Panoptics expands into a new office and an exciting new chapter

Panoptics grows into new office

Amidst ongoing growth, Panoptics are excited to reveal our new home – 421 New Kings Road, Putney, London. Following a long search, the new “Pano HQ” is a mere stone’s throw from the last office location, but a country mile in terms of space and potential.

The dedicated office offers the perfect mix of space for growth, location for customers and environment for every Panopticon to be proud of. Following an extensive kit-out, the office has been transformed into the perfect Panoptics headquarters, everything from the cutting edge video conferencing suite to the state of the art monitoring facilities has been implemented to ensure our IT services are second to none and our customers, both new and existing, can benefit from our new facilities.

The space has been sensitively designed to work with the Panoptics ‘Pod’ service delivery model, ensuring each Pod is appropriately clustered for efficient communication & knowledge transfer between engineers and specialists, in turn improving efficiencies in service delivery and problem resolution.

Panoptics Managing Director, Mark Brookbanks, commented; “This move is an exciting new chapter for Panoptics. With the continued growth of the business and the increasing staff count, we have been actively looking for larger office space for a long time, so we are very excited to have moved and can now look ambitiously forward to what the future holds. We are very much looking forward to welcoming both existing and new customers to our new home.”

With our own coffee blend, a fully stocked beer fridge and a fantastic rooftop terrace overlooking London, we welcome visitors. So if you want to talk tech, discuss how we can transform your IT or quite simply discover what makes Panoptics different, why not pay us a visit.
